9. Any person who was on the 31st March 1967 a contributor to the Aden Fund and who elected to cease to be a contributor with effect from the 1st April 1967 and to be paid an amount representing his interest in that Fund in accordance with the provisions of the Pensions Ordinance may, within one month of the date on which he so elected, apply to the Minister to participate in the Scheme. If the Minister approves the application the applicant shall become a contributor to the Scheme with effect from the 1st April 1967, subject to the amount of the contributor's interest in the Aden Fund being transferred to the Minister.

Deceased contributors to Aden Fund or Aden Scheme.

10. Notwithstanding any other provisions of these Regulations, a deceased person who died whilst a contributor to the Aden Fund or to the Aden Scheme and in respect of whom a pension was payable out of the Aden Fund on the 31st March 1967 (or would have been deemed to have become payable under the Pensions Ordinance on the 1st April 1967) to any beneficiary of his, and the responsibility for its payment was transferred to the Minister with effect from the 1st April 1967, as provided in the Pensions Ordinance, shall be deemed to have become a contributor to the Scheme on the 1st April 1967.

Contributors to approved schemes.

12.—(1) (a) Subject to the provisions of this paragraph, if the Crown Agents are satisfied that a contributor who is required to make contributions to the Scheme is a contributor to an approved Scheme, the Crown Agents may, on the application of the contributor, determine that he shall, so long as he continues to be a contributor under such approved scheme, be exempt from contributing unless at any time the contributions which, in the absence of this paragraph, he would from time to time be required to pay under these Regulations exceed his contributions under such approved scheme; and so long as the exemption remains in force and the contributor continues to be a contributor under an approved scheme, he shall not contribute more than the amount, if any, of such excess;

(b) the Crown Agents may require any contributor who has been granted an exemption under this paragraph, from time to time, to produce the receipts for his contributions or other satisfactory evidence of his continuing to be a contributor under such approved scheme, and if he shall fail to do so the Crown Agents may cancel the exemption;

(c) no application for exemption under this paragraph shall be valid unless it is made not later than three months after the date on which his application to participate in the Scheme was approved or such later date as the Minister may in any special case determine;

(d) where an officer is, by virtue of an exemption under this paragraph, making no contributions, he shall nevertheless be deemed for the purposes of these Regulations to cease or continue to contribute, as the case may be, in any circumstances in which he would so cease or continue if such exemption had not been granted, and all rights of election under Part V of these Regulations may be exercised by him accordingly.

(2) Where the Crown Agents are satisfied that an officer who would but for the provisions of this paragraph be required by these Regulations to become a contributor is a fully paid up contributor to an approved scheme, they may grant him the option—

(a) to contribute as a full contributor subject to the provisions of Regulation 14(1); or

(b) to continue to contribute any difference between the amount of the contribution he had been making to an approved scheme and the contribution which he would but for the provisions of paragraph (1) of this Regulation have been liable to make; or

(c) to be exempt from contributing at all.

(3) Where any contributor is required to make any election or application under this Regulation has made any valid comparable election under the Pensions Ordinance such election may be deemed by the Minister to have been an election made under and in satisfaction of this Regulation.

Provisions in cases of election under Regulation 11.

13. Where a contributor elects under Regulation 11(1) not to make annual contributions to the Scheme the provisions of these Regulations shall apply to him as if he were such a contributor:

Provided that—

(i) if he is still in the service of the Government, he shall be deemed to be a person who had transferred to other public service with effect from the 1st day of April, 1967, to whom the provisions of sub-paragraph 19(1)(a) or sub-paragraph 19(2)(b), as appropriate, had been applied;

(ii) if the contributor had been continuing to contribute in accordance with the provisions of Regulation 21 (which relates to contributions after retirement on pension) he shall be deemed to have ceased to contribute under that section.

Contributions of contributors.

14.—(1) Save as otherwise provided in these Regulations every contributor who elects under Regulation 11(1) to make annual contributions shall make to the Scheme such an annual contribution, depending upon the amount of his annual salary or pension, at the rate specified in column 2 of Schedule A to these Regulations:

Provided that he may limit the amount of his annual contribution under Regulation 11(1) to seventy-five pounds.

(3) Contributions under this Regulation shall accrue daily and shall be payable monthly in arrear.

Cessation of contributions.

15. The contributions of any contributor shall cease on the happening of any of the following events but not otherwise—

(a) if he attains the age of fifty-five years ; or

(b) if he dies ; or

(c) save as otherwise provided in Regulation 21 (which relates to contributions after retirement on pension), if he leaves the public service ; or

(d) save as otherwise provided in Part V of these Regulations (which provides for officers leaving the service), if he is transferred from the service of the Government to other public service.

Contributions may continue in full if salary reduced.

16. If the salary of a contributor be reduced he may, upon giving notice in writing to the Crown Agents of his desire to do so, continue to make contributions computed by reference to his salary immediately before the reduction.

PART IV

Contributions not normally to be repaid.

17. Save as otherwise expressly provided in these Regulations, no contributions thereunder shall be repaid.

Repayment to bachelor or widower without pensionable children.

18.—(1) Subject to the provisions of Part V (which relates to officers leaving the service) of these Regulations, if a contributor, being a bachelor or a widower without children who are at pensionable age, ceases to contribute, he shall thereupon cease to be a contributor for the purposes of these Regulations, and there shall be paid out to him, or to his legal personal representative, if any, or in the event of there being no such legal personal representative to the person entitled thereto by law, the following amount, that is to say:—

(a) in the case of a bachelor and a widower whose last wife died, and last child ceased to be of pensionable age, before the 1st April 1967, the aggregate of the amount of the contributions paid by him to the Scheme with compound interest thereon together with the amount of the contributor's interest in the Aden Fund transferred to the Minister with compound interest thereon, and

(b) in any other case, the amount of the contributions paid by him during the period from the date of death of his last wife or the date upon which his last child ceased to be of pensionable age, whichever date is the later, with compound interest thereon:

Provided that where such a contributor is dismissed from the public service for misconduct, the contributions shall be repaid as aforesaid, and, unless the Minister directs otherwise, without interest.

(2) For the purposes of this Regulation, interest shall be calculated at two and a half per centum per annum, with annual rests at the thirty-first day of March in each year, the interest beginning to accrue in respect of each contribution on the first day of the month following the day upon which the contribution is paid and ceasing on the last day of the month preceding the day upon which payment under this Regulation is made.

PART V

PROVISION FOR OFFICERS LEAVING THE SERVICE

Transfer of a contributor to other public service which has provision for widows' and orphans' pensions.

19. If a contributor is transferred from the service of the Government to other public service for which there is established an approved scheme, the following provisions shall have effect:—

(1) If the contributor is a bachelor or a widower without children who are of pensionable age—

(a) he shall, if he so elects by notice in writing addressed to the Crown Agents not later than three months after the date of transfer, remain a contributor for the purposes of these Regulations without making further contributions;

(b) Regulation 18 (which relates to payment) shall not apply before the expiration of the said three months or his earlier death, but shall then apply as from the date of transfer if he has not elected as provided in sub-paragraph (a) of this paragraph but not otherwise;

(c) if having elected as aforesaid, he subsequently leaves the public service or dies without having married or remarried, as the case may be, the provisions of Regulation 18 (which relates to repayment) shall apply;

(d) if, having elected as aforesaid, he subsequently marries without having left the public service, the last mentioned provisions shall cease to apply in his case.

(2) If the contributor is married or a widower with children who are of pensionable age—

(a) he shall, if he so elects by notice in writing addressed to the Crown Agents not later than three months after the date of transfer, continue to contribute at the rate at which he was contributing at that date;

(b) if he does not so elect he shall cease to contribute as from the date of transfer.

Transfer of a contributor to other public service which has no provision for widows' and orphans' pensions.

20. If a contributor is transferred from the service of the Government to other public service for which there is not established an approved scheme, the following provisions shall have effect:—

(1) If the contributor is a bachelor or widower without children who are of pensionable age—

(a) he may, if he so elects by notice in writing addressed to the Crown Agents not later than three months after the date of transfer, continue to contribute to the Scheme at the rate at which he was contributing at that date;

(b) Regulation 18 (which relates to repayment) shall not apply before the expiration of the said three months or his earlier death, but shall then apply as from the date of transfer if he has not elected as provided in sub-paragraph (a) of this Regulation but not otherwise;

(c) if, having elected as aforesaid, he further elects, by notice in writing addressed to the Crown Agents, at any time, to cease to contribute, he shall cease accordingly as from the first day of the month in which such notice is so addressed; and, subject to the provisions of these Regulations, if, being at the time a bachelor or widower without children who are of pensionable age, he so ceases while in the public service or leaves the public service or dies, the provisions of Regulation 18 (which relates to repayment) shall apply.

(2) If the contributor is married or a widower with children who are of pensionable age—

(a) he may, at his election, continue to contribute, and thereafter cease to contribute, in the manner prescribed by paragraph (1) of this Regulation;

(b) if he does not so elect to continue to contribute, he shall cease to contribute as from the date of transfer.

Continuance of contributions of married contributor or widower with pensionable children after retirement on pension.

21.—(1) If a contributor who is married or is a widower with children who are of pensionable age retires from the public service before attaining the age of fifty-five and is granted a pension, he shall continue to contribute at the rate at which he was contributing immediately prior to his retirement, unless and until, by notice in writing addressed to the Crown Agents, he elects—

(a) to contribute at a rate appropriate to the amount of such pension, or

(b) to cease to contribute as from the first day of the month in which such notice is so addressed.

If he so elects, his contributions shall be reduced or shall cease accordingly. A contributor may elect under this paragraph to cease to contribute notwithstanding that he has previously elected to contribute as provided in sub-paragraph (a) of this paragraph.

(2) Notwithstanding the provisions of Regulation 25 (which relates to the effect of increases and reductions in contributions), if such a contributor retires on the ground of ill-health and his death occurs—

(i) not later than three years after the date of his retirement, if at the date of his death he was contributing as provided in sub-paragraph (a) of paragraph (1) of this Regulation; or

(ii) not later than two years after the date of his retirement, if at the date of his death he had ceased to contribute, any pension payable in respect of him shall be computed as if he had died on the day preceding the date of his retirement.

(3) If such a contributor continues to contribute under paragraph (1) of this Regulation and subsequently his wife dies and his children, if any, cease to be of pensionable age or die, he shall cease to contribute.

(4) Where an officer has elected or been compelled to receive a reduced pension and gratuity in lieu of a pension which he might have received but for such election or compulsion, his pension shall, for the purpose of calculating his contributions under paragraph (1)(a) of this Regulation, be deemed to be the amount of the unreduced pension which he might have so received.

Retirement for ill-health without pension.

22. If a contributor who is married or a widower with children who are of pensionable age retires from the public service on the ground of ill-health and is not granted a pension, any pension payable on his death shall, if such death occurs not later than two years after the date of his retirement, be computed as if he had died on the day preceding that date.

PART VI

CALCULATION OF PAYMENT OF PENSIONS

Calculation and payment of pensions.

23.—(1) All pensions shall be calculated in accordance with the Instructions and Pensions Tables set forth in Schedules B and C to these Regulations.

(2) The Crown Agents shall pay the pensions as they become due.

(3) All pensions shall, subject to the provisions of these Regulations, commence upon the day after the death of the contributor in respect of whom they are payable, shall accrue daily and shall be payable monthly in arrear :

Provided that a pension may be paid quarterly instead of monthly if the person to whom it is payable so desires.

Effect of increases and reductions in contributions.

24.—(1) If the total monthly contributions payable by a contributor who is married or a widower with children who are of a pensionable age are increased, any pension payable in respect of that contributor shall be increased by an amount corresponding to the pension which would become payable by virtue of a contribution equivalent to the increase if the contributors were to commence to contribute at the date of the increase.

(2) If such contributions are reduced, any pension payable in respect of him shall be reduced by the amount by which it would have been increased had such contributions been increased instead of reduced.

(3) When contributions cease to be payable otherwise than in the cases mentioned in paragraphs (a), (b) and (e) of Regulation 15 the cessation thereof shall be deemed to be a reduction for the purposes of paragraph (2) of this Regulation.

Rights of individual beneficiaries.

25. Subject to the provisions of these Regulations :—

(1) On the death of a contributor leaving one or more beneficiaries, the beneficiary, or each of such beneficiaries, as the case may be, shall receive a pension in accordance with the provisions of these Regulations.

(2) If pensions are payable to more than one beneficiary, each beneficiary shall receive such proportion of the pension which such beneficiary would have received if sole beneficiary, as unity bears to the total number of beneficiaries.

(3) Where there are two or more beneficiaries receiving pensions in respect of the same contributor and the pension payable to one of such beneficiaries lapses under the provisions of these Regulations, the other beneficiary or beneficiaries shall, as from the date of such lapse, receive the pension or pensions which he or they would have received if such first-mentioned beneficiary had not been in existence at the death of such contributor.

Pensions of orphan children.

26.—(1) Where there is only one child of a contributor by any marriage entitled to pension, the pension shall be at the same rate as the pension which his mother received or would have received if it had been payable to her, and shall lapse when such child ceases to be of pensionable age or dies.

(2) Where there are two or more children of a contributor by any marriage entitled to pension, the pension shall be at the same rate as the pension which their mother received or would have received if it had become payable to her, and shall be paid to such children in equal shares. When any of such children ceases to be of pensionable age or dies his share of such pension shall be paid to the remaining child of the same marriage of pensionable age, or, if there are two or more such children, to those children in equal shares.

Death or remarriage of widow.

27.—(1) Where a beneficiary is the widow of a contributor, the pension shall cease to be payable to her on her remarriage.

(2) When such pension ceases as aforesaid or by reason of the death of the widow or is forfeited under Regulation 8(1), if there are no children of the marriage of the widow with the contributor living and of pensionable age, the pension shall lapse ; and if there are such children the pension shall be paid to such children in accordance with the provisions of these Regulations.

Bankruptcy of widow.

28. Where a beneficiary, being a widow of a contributor, is adjudged bankrupt or declared insolvent by any competent court, the pension shall thereupon cease to be payable to her and, if the Minister so directs, shall lapse:

Provided that, if and so long as the Minister does not direct that the pension shall lapse, the Minister may, during the remainder of her life, or during such shorter period or periods, either continuous or discontinuous, as he shall think fit, from time to time pay an allowance at a rate not exceeding the rate of such pension to such widow or to any child or children of her marriage with the contributor, or in part to the widow and in part to any such child or children ; and where the amount of the allowance so paid is less than the amount of the pension the Minister may give directions for increasing, in consequence of the reduction under this Regulation of the amount payable, the pension payable to any child of any other marriage of the contributor, and such pension shall be increased accordingly.

Certain persons not entitled to pensions.

29.—(1) No widow of a contributor whose marriage with him is contracted after he has either attained the age of fifty-five years or has left the public service and no child of such marriage shall constitute a beneficiary for the purpose of these Regulations or become entitled to a pension.

(2) Where a contributor dies within twelve months of his marriage and there is no child of such marriage, his widow shall not constitute a beneficiary for the purposes of, or become entitled to any pension under these Regulations:

Provided that the Minister may direct that all or any part of the pension to which such widow would have been entitled but for the provisions of this paragraph (in this Regulation called "the hypothetical pension") shall be paid to her; and where the Minister so directs, the widow shall be entitled to payment accordingly and shall constitute a beneficiary for the purposes of these Regulations, and if by virtue of the direction of the Minister part only of the hypothetical pension becomes payable to such widow, the pension payable to any other beneficiary shall be increased by an amount which shall bear to the difference between the pension which would have been payable to that beneficiary if the Minister had directed payment of the whole of the hypothetical pension to the said widow and the pension which would have been payable to that beneficiary if the Minister had not given any direction under this paragraph, the same proportion as the part of the hypothetical pension not directed to be paid bears to the whole thereof.

Failure to maintain child.

30. If the Minister is satisfied that a widow of a contributor while in receipt of a pension has deserted or abandoned or has failed or is failing to maintain or assist, so far as her means allow, a child of her marriage with the contributor whom she is bound by law to maintain and who is of pensionable age, the Minister may, in his discretion, while such child remains of pensionable age, pay or cause to be paid to such child such portion of the pension as he may think fit and the widow shall have no further claim in respect of any portion of the pension so paid.

Payment of pensions to children of pensionable age and widows' allowances.

31. Any pension or part of a pension or any allowance payable under or by virtue of these Regulations to a child of pensionable age, and any allowance payable by virtue of these Regulations to a widow may, as the Minister in his discretion from time to time determine, be paid either—

(a) to such a child or widow; or

(b) to such person or persons as the Minister may think fit, for, or to be applied for, the maintenance, support or benefit of such child or widow.

Proof of claim to pension.

32. The Crown Agents may require such proof as they consider desirable that any person who claims to be entitled to pension, or on behalf of whom such a claim is made, is alive and entitled to pension, and the payment of any pension may be refused until such proof is furnished to the reasonable satisfaction of the Crown Agents.

PART VII

MISCELLANEOUS

Collection of contributions.

33. Each contributor shall be responsible for payment to the Crown Agents of contribution payable by him under the provisions of these Regulations:

Provided that the contributions may, with the consent of the contributor, be collected—

(a) by the Minister from the emoluments of contributors in the employment of the Ministry of Overseas Development and such contributions shall be transmitted to the Crown Agents; and

(b) by the Crown Agents from any monies payable to the contributor from any source through their offices.

Provisions regarding elections.

34.—(1) Except as otherwise expressly provided in these Regulations, any election required or authorised to be made under these Regulations shall—

(a) be made in writing; and

(b) be irrevocable.

(2) If the whole or any part of a monthly contribution payable by a contributor remains unpaid for a period of three months, he shall be deemed to have elected to cease to contribute to the Scheme on the first day of the first month in respect of which such contribution was payable but unpaid:

Provided that if in any special case the Minister so directs, this paragraph shall have effect as if for the reference to three months there were substituted a reference to such longer period as the Minister may determine.

Pension not to be assigned or levied upon.

35. Except as expressly provided in these Regulations, no pension payable and no rights of any contributor under these Regulations shall be assignable, transferable or liable to be attached, seized, sequestered, charged or levied upon for, or in respect of, any debt or claim whatsoever;

Provided that any contribution or other sum due from a contributor or deceased contributor may be deducted from any amount payable to or in respect of such contributor; and any sum due from a widow or child of a contributor may be deducted from any pension or allowance payable to or on behalf of such widow or child by virtue of these Regulations.

Rates of exchange.

SCHEDULE C

Regulation 23(1).

Instructions for computing the registered pensions of persons who became or are deemed to have become contributors to the Scheme with effect from 1st April 1967.

1. The rate of pension in respect of any contributor who became a contributor to the Scheme under Regulation 9 of these Regulations shall be calculated by adding together:—
   (i) an amount, as determined by the Minister acting on the advice of the Government Actuary, having regard to the contributor's interest in the Aden Fund on 31st March 1967 and
   (ii) the amounts purchased by contributions made on or after the 1st April 1967.

2. The registered pension in respect of a person who is deemed to become a contributor to the Scheme in accordance with the provisions of Regulation 10 of these Regulations shall be at an annual rate determined by the Minister, acting on the advice of the Government Actuary, having regard to that person's interest in the Aden Fund on 31st March 1967.

Instructions for the use of the Pension Tables.

3. The Tables in Schedule B shall apply to all pensions registered in respect of contributors for the purpose of computing the amounts purchased by contributions made to the Scheme on or after the 1st April 1967.

4. Unless the context otherwise requires, " contribution " in this Schedule means the aggregate annual contributions paid under Regulation 11(1) and (2).

A. Contributor who Enters the Scheme while a Bachelor and Continues to pay Contributions

I. First Wife's Prospective Pension

The registered pension in respect of contributions paid after 31st March 1967 to be recorded on marriage is found by adding together the two amounts calculated in accordance with the following Rules I(a) and I(b).

(a) Pension in consideration of the contributions paid during bachelorhood:

Rule I(a):

Accumulate the contributions paid after 31st March 1967 at 4 per cent compound interest with yearly rests at each 31st December, and multiply the result by the quantity found from table A corresponding to the ages last birthday of the husband and wife at the date of marriage. The product gives the pension on account of the contributions paid during bachelorhood.

(b) Pension in consideration of the annual contribution at the date of marriage:

Rule I(b):

Multiply the amount of the annual contribution by the quantity found from Table B corresponding to the ages last birthday of the husband and wife at the date of marriage. The product gives the pension on account of the annual contribution at the date of marriage.

Example:

Officer born on 4th May 1943

Officer marries on 30th September 1969

Wife born on 5th September 1947

Officer's age last birthday at date of marriage 26

Wife's age last birthday at date of marriage 22

	£	s.	d.
Annual contributions:
1st April 1967 to 31st December 1967	72	0	0
1st January 1968 to 31st December 1968	72	0	0
1st January 1969 to date of marriage	81	0	0
Accumulation of contributions paid during bachelorhood:
Rule I(a)
Contributions from 1st April 1967 to 31st December 1967 ...	54	0	0
Contributions during 1968...	72	0	0
One year's interest at 4 per cent on £54	2	3	2
	£128	3	2
Contributions from 1st January 1969 to date of marriage ...	60	15	0
Three-quarters of a year's interest at 4 per cent per annum on £128 3*s.*2*d.*	3	16	11
Total accumulations	£192	15	1

Quantity found from Table A:

Husband: aged 26 last birthday
Wife: aged 22 last birthday
} ·421*

Then the pension in consideration of contributions paid during bachelorhood
= £192 15s. 1d. × ·421
= £81 3s. 0d.

Rule I(b):

Annual contribution at date of marriage = £81

Quantity found in Table B:

Husband: aged 26 last birthday
Wife: aged 22 last birthday
} 6·99

Then the pension in consideration of the annual contribution at marriage
= £81 × 6·99
= £566 3s. 10d.

Total registered pension recorded on marriage of the bachelor in respect of contribution paid after 31st March 1967:

By Rule I(a) =	81	3	0
By Rule I(b) =	566	3	10
Total	£647	6	10

(c) Variations of pension consequent on increments to, and decrements from, the annual contribution while the contributor is married to his first wife:

Rule I(c):

Multiply the amount of the increment to, or the decrement from, the annual contribution by the quantity found from Table B corresponding to the ages last birthday of the husband and wife at the date of the variation of the contribution.

The product gives the amount to be added to the registered pension consequent on the increment to the annual contribution, or, as the case may be, the amount to be deducted from the registered pension consequent on the decrement from the annual contribution.

The cessation of the contribution, from any cause, except death, before the completion of the full period of contribution must be regarded as decrement from the annual contribution equal to the amount of such annual contribution.

* See E which gives the method of calculation of quantities not immediately available from the tables.

Example:

Assume particulars as in example subjoined to Rules I(a) and I(b).
Annual contribution increased on 1st June 1971 from £81 to £90.
Annual contribution increased on 1st February 1975 from £90 to £108.
Annual contribution ceased on 31st March 1990 owing to withdrawal from service.

1st June 1971—Increment to annual contribution, £9.

Quantity found from Table B:
Husband: aged 28 last birthday } 6·20
Wife: aged 23 last birthday }

Then amount to be added to registered pension
= £9 × 6·20
= £55 16s. 0d.

	£	s.	d.
Registered pension at date of marriage ... =	647	6	10
Add pension purchased by increment of £9 =	55	16	0
Registered pension at 1st June 1971 ... ... =	£703	2	10

1st February 1975—Increment to annual contribution £18.

Quantity found from Table B:
Husband: aged 31 last birthday } 5·43*
Wife: aged 27 last birthday }

Then amount to be added to registered pension
= £18 × 5·43
= £97 14s. 10d.

	£	s.	d.
Registered pension at 1st June 1971 ... =	703	2	10
Add pension purchased by increment of £18 =	97	14	10
Registered pension at 1st February 1975 ... =	£800	17	8

31st March 1990—Decrement from annual contribution due to cessation of payment of contribution = £108.

Quantity found from Table B:
Husband: aged 46 last birthday } 1·75*
Wife: aged 42 last birthday }

Then amount to be deducted from registered pension
= £108 × 1·75
= £189 0s. 0d.

	£	s.	d.
Registered pension at 1st February 1975 ... =	800	17	8

II. Second or Subsequent Wife's Prospective Pension

(a) Variations of pension consequent on increments to, and decrements from, the annual contribution while the contributor is a widower:

Rule II(a):

Assume that the contributor's last preceding wife was alive at the date of the variation of the contribution and proceed in accordance with Rule I(c).

* See E which gives the method of calculation of quantities not immediately available from the tables.

Example of the application of Rule II(a):

If the particulars are as in the example subjoined to Rule I(c) except that the first wife, who was born on 5th September 1947 died on 7th July 1970, it will be assumed that the contributor was, at the date of each of the three variations of the contribution, married to a wife who was born on 5th September 1947. The calculations will then be identical with those given in the example subjoined to Rule I(c).

(b) Variations of pension consequent on the re-marriage of the contributor:

If the second or subsequent wife was, at the date of the re-marriage, of the same age last birthday as the last preceding wife would have been had she survived, the registered pension remains the same.

Rule II(b):

If the second or subsequent wife is younger or older than the last preceding wife would have been had she survived, multiply the amount of the pension already registered by the quantity found from Table C corresponding to the age last birthday of the husband at the date of re-marriage, and the age last birthday which the last preceding wife would have attained had she survived to that date; multiply the product so obtained by the quantity found from Table A corresponding to the ages last birthday of the husband and of the second or subsequent wife at the date of the re-marriage.

The result gives the registered pension to be recorded on the re-marriage of the contributor.

Example:

Assume particulars as in the example subjoined to Rule I(c).

First wife dies on	7th July 1970
Contributor re-marries on	11th January 1980
Contributor's age last birthday at date of re-marriage	36
Second wife born on	30th April 1952
Second wife's age last birthday at date of re-marriage	27
Age last birthday which the first wife would have attained had she survived to the date of the re-marriage	32

11th January 1980—the second wife being younger than the first wife would have been had she survived, the registered pension of £800 17s. 8d. (see example subjoined to Rule I(c)) has to be recalculated.

Quantity found from Table C:
Husband: aged 36 last birthday
Wife: aged 32 last birthday } 3·14*

Quantity found from Table A:
Husband: aged 36 last birthday
Wife: aged 27 last birthday } 0·282*

Registered pension at 11th January 1980
= £800 17s. 8d. × 3·14 × 0·282
= £709 3s. 4d.

(c) Variations of pension consequent on increments to, and decrements from, the annual contribution while the contributor is married to his second or subsequent wife:

Rule II(c). Proceed as in Rule I(c).

* See E which gives the method of calculation of quantities not immediately available from the tables.

B. Contributor who Enters the Scheme while Married and Continues to Pay Contributions

Where there is no child of pensionable age of a former wife, the wife at 1st April 1967 is to be considered as the officer's first wife and no particulars are to be recorded respecting any former wife. Where there is a child of pensionable age of a former wife the pension of the child is to be computed as if the officer were a widower at 1st April 1967. (See C—Rule V).

III. Prospective Pension of Wife at Entry

(a) Pension at 1st April 1967 in respect of contributions paid after 31st March 1967:

Rule III(a):

Multiply the amount of the annual contribution by the quantity found from Table B corresponding to the ages last birthday of the husband and wife at 1st April 1967.

The product gives the registered pension in respect of contributions paid after 31st March 1967.

Example:

Officer born on	2nd May 1924
Officer married on	15th April 1955
Annual contribution on 1st April 1967	£135
Wife born on	4th February 1928
Officer's age last birthday on 1st April 1967 ...	42
Wife's age last birthday on 1st April 1967... ...	39

Quantity found from Table B:
Husband: aged 42 last birthday
Wife: aged 39 last birthday } 2·70*

Registered pension at 1st April 1967
= £135 + 2·70
= £364.10s.0d.

(b) Variations of pension consequent on increments to, and decrements from, the annual contribution while the contributor is married to his first wife:

Rule III(b). Proceed as in Rule I(c).

IV. Second or Subsequent Wife's Prospective Pension

(a) Variations of pension consequent on increments to, and decrements from, the annual contribution while the contributor is a widower:

Rule IV(a). Proceed as in Rule II(a).

(b) Variations of pension consequent on the re-marriage of the contributor:

Rule IV(b). Proceed as in Rule II(b).

(c) Variations of pension consequent on increments to, and decrements from, the annual contribution while the contributor is married to his second, or subsequent wife:

Rule IV(c). Proceed as in Rule I(c).

* See E which gives the method of calculation of quantities not immediately available from the tables.

C. Contributor who enters the Scheme while a widower and continues to pay Contributions

V. Prospective Pension to Children of his Former Marriage

If a child of the contributor's former marriage is of pensionable age, a pension must be registered on his or her behalf. If there is no such child, the contributor should be regarded as a bachelor.

Rule V.

For the purpose of calculating the pension to be registered on behalf of the child of pensionable age of the former marriage, assume that the deceased wife lived until 1st April 1967 and died immediately afterwards and proceed in accordance with Rules III(a) and IV(a).

VI. Second or Subsequent Wife's Prospective Pension

Rule VI.

For the purpose of calculating the pension to be registered on behalf of the second or subsequent wife, assume that the deceased wife survived to the date of re-marriage and died immediately afterwards; then proceed in accordance with Rules applicable to officers who enter the scheme while married (see B).

D. Contributor with two or more beneficiaries

Rule VII.

Where there are children of pensionable age by two or more deceased wives, or where there is a wife and also a child or children of pensionable age by one or more previous marriages, the pension in respect of each beneficiary as found by the above rules must be divided by the total number of the beneficiaries then existing in order to find the registered pension of that beneficiary.

Example:

Assume particulars as in example subjoined to Rules I and II and that on 11th January 1980 there is a child of pensionable age by the contributor's first marriage. The pensions as found by the above rules would be £800.17s.8d. in respect of the child and £709.3s.4d. in respect of the second wife if each were the sole beneficiary. But there are two beneficiaries and therefore in accordance with Rule VII these amounts are divisable by two. Thus the registered pensions will be £400.8s.10d. in respect of the child and £354.11s.8d. in respect of the second wife.

When all children of the first marriage cease to be of pensionable age, the registered pension in respect of the second wife will be increased to the full amount of £709.3s.4d.

E. Calculation of quantities not immediately available from the Tables

(i) Ages of husbands and wives younger than the youngest and older than the oldest in the tables are to be dealt with as if identical with the youngest and oldest respectively.

(ii) Quantities relating to ages of wives are given at five-yearly intervals. For the intermediate ages the required quantities are obtained by interpolation.

Examples:

(a) To find the quantity in Table A corresponding to the ages of a husband and wife aged respectively 27 and 26 last birthday:

The quantity for ages 27 and 25 given in Table A is ·427
The quantity for ages 27 and 30 given in Table A is ·493

The addition of five years to the age of the wife results, therefore, in an addition of ·066 to the quantity given in the table for ages 27 and 25.

An addition of one year to the age of the wife accordingly results, by proportion, in an addition of one fifth of ·066 that is ·013. This figure added to ·427 gives ·440, which is, therefore, the required quantity corresponding to ages 27 and 26.

(b) Similarly, the quantity found from Table B corresponding to the ages of a husband and wife aged respectively 39 and 38 last birthday is three-fifths of ·62 added to 3·29 which gives 3·66.

(c) To find the quantity in Table C corresponding to the ages of a husband and wife aged respectively 35 and 34 last birthday: it must be noted that in Table C an addition to the age of the wife results in a deduction from the quantity given in the table.

The quantity for ages 35 and 30 given in Table C is 3·15
The quantity for ages 35 and 35 given in Table C is 2·72

The addition of five years to the age of the wife results, therefore, in a deduction of ·43 from the quantity given in the table for ages 35 and 30.

An addition of four years to the age of the wife accordingly results, by proportion, in a deduction of four fifths of ·43, that is ·34. This figure deducted from 3·15 leaves 2·81, which is, therefore, the required quantity corresponding to ages 35 and 34.
