These regulations, which are made under the Agriculture (Poisonous Substances) Act 1952, further amend the Agriculture (Poisonous Substances) Regulations 1963. Workers to whom those regulations apply may not, and their employers may not cause or permit them to, carry out certain operations with specified poisonous substances unless the prescribed safety measures, including the wearing of protective clothing, are observed.

These regulations add two further substances, thionazin, an organo-phosphorus compound, and fentin hydroxide, an organo-tin compound, to the list of poisonous substances previously specified. The Act has been applied to organo-tin compounds by the Agriculture (Poisonous Substances) (Extension) Order 1965.
