Whereas each of the parishes of Cawdor, Croy and Dalcross, and Daviot and Dunlichity is situated partly in the county of Inverness and partly in the county of Nairn:

And whereas part of the parish of Cawdor, containing 162 acres or thereby, situated in the county of Nairn at or near Raitknock and adjoining the parishes of Nairn and Auldearn, is, as shown on the Ordnance Survey Maps, detached from the main portion of the parish of Cawdor:

IV. Subject to the provisions of the said Act, the following portion of the parish of Croy and Dalcross, videlicet—

So much of the main portion of the parish of Croy and Dalcross as lies to the west of a line starting at a point on the boundary between the said parish and the parish of Petty at a point at the west end of Loch Flemington, and running thence in a generally southerly direction along the present boundary between the counties of Inverness and Nairn until it meets the northern boundary of the estate of Holme, thence along the northern and western boundaries of the said estate until it reaches the River Nairn, thence to and up the medium filum of the said river until it reaches the march between the farm of Dalroy on the estate of Cantray and the farm of Croygorston on the estate of Culloden, and thence in a generally south-easterly direction along the said march until it meets the boundary of the parish of Cawdor, shall be wholly included in and shall form part of the county of Inverness, and the remainder of the main portion of the parish of Croy and Dalcross shall be wholly included in and shall form part of the county of Nairn.

V. Subject to the provisions of the said Act, the whole of the parish of Daviot and Dunlichity shall be included in and shall form part of the county of Inverness.
