3.1 Mandy Clark, Welfare Policy Lead at HMRC, telephone 03000 544321 email: mandy.clark@hmrc.gov.uk, can be contacted with any queries regarding the instrument.

Part One: Explanation, and context, of the Instrument

4. Overview of the Instrument

What does the legislation do?

4.1 This Order sets the weekly rate of Child Benefit and Guardian's Allowance from 7 April 2025. These rates were announced by Written Ministerial Statement on 30 October 2024.

Where does the legislation extend to, and apply?

4.2 The extent of this instrument (that is, the jurisdiction(s) which the instrument forms part of the law of) is the United Kingdom.

4.3 The territorial application of this instrument (that is, where the instrument produces a practical effect) is the United Kingdom, except for article 3 which applies to England, Scotland and Wales, and article 4 which applies to Northern Ireland. The extent of the provisions of the enabling Acts under which the instrument is made are found within section 192 of the Social Security Administration Act 1992 and section 168 of the Social Security Administration (Northern Ireland) Act 1992.

5. Policy Context

What is being done and why?

5.1 Following reviews of Child Benefit and Guardian's Allowance, the Treasury has determined that the overall level of prices has increased by 1.7% as measured by the change in Consumer Prices Index (CPI) from September 2023 to September 2024.

5.2 The Order increases the weekly rate of Child Benefit by 1.7% rounded to the nearest 5 pence. This means that, from 7 April 2025, the weekly rate for the eldest child will increase from £25.60 to £26.05, and the rate for any subsequent children will increase from £16.95 to £17.25.

5.3 The Order increases the weekly rate of Guardian's Allowance by 1.7% rounded to the nearest 5 pence. This means that, from 7 April 2024, the weekly rate of Guardian's Allowance will increase from £21.75 to £22.10.

What was the previous policy, how is this different?

5.4 There is no change in the policy.

6. Legislative and Legal Context

How has the law changed?

6.1 Section 150(1)(a)(i) of the Social Security Administration Act 1992 (SSAA) requires the amount of Guardian's Allowance to be reviewed in each tax year to determine whether it has retained its value in relation to the general level of prices in Great Britain. Section 150(2)(a) SSAA provides that Guardian's Allowance (amongst other benefits) shall be up-rated in line with the increase in the general level of prices. Section 132(1) of the Social Security Administration (Northern Ireland) Act 1992 (SSANIA) allows corresponding provisions for Northern Ireland to be made.

6.2 Section 150(1)(i) SSAA requires the rates of Child Benefit to be reviewed each tax year.

6.3 Sections 49(3) and (4) of the Tax Credits Act 2002 (TCA) transferred the functions under section 150 SSAA and section 132 SSANIA, so far as relating to Child Benefit and Guardian's Allowance, from the Northern Ireland Department to the Treasury.

6.4 Section 41 TCA requires the Treasury to review certain elements of tax credits in each tax year in order to determine whether those elements have retained their value in relation to the general level of prices in the United Kingdom. The Treasury has carried out this review and determined that there is no need to change the rates of tax credits in the tax year 2025-26 because there will be no tax credits awards after 5 April 2025.

Why was this approach taken to change the law?

6.5 This is the only possible approach to make the necessary changes.

7. Consultation

Summary of consultation outcome and methodology

7.1 No consultation was carried out as this Order forms part of the annual legal requirement for Treasury to review the rates of Child Benefit and Guardian's Allowance.

8. Applicable Guidance

8.1 Current and past rates are published on the GOV.UK website[1].
