4.2 The territorial application of this instrument is England.

5. European Convention on Human Rights

5.1 As the instrument is subject to negative resolution procedure and does not amend primary legislation, no statement is required.

6. Legislative Context

6.1 The Commission has power under section 59 of the Local Democracy, Economic Development and Construction Act 2009 (the 2009 Act) to make an order giving effect to recommendations contained in a report, prepared under section 58(4) of the 2009 Act, after conducting an electoral review under section 56(1) of that Act. This instrument is being made to give effect to the Commission's recommendations for new electoral arrangements set out in its report prepared following an electoral review of Liverpool City Council.

7. Policy background

What is being done and why?

7.1 The purpose of an electoral review is to decide on the appropriate electoral arrangements including the number of councillors and the names, number and boundaries of wards or divisions for a specific local authority. The Commission began the electoral review of Liverpool City Council in July 2019. The Commission decided to conduct the review as, based on the December 2018 electorate figures, 30% of wards had an electoral variance of greater than 10% from the average for the authority and one ward had variances of greater than 30%.

7.2 An electoral review aims to ensure that the number of electors represented by each councillor is as close to equal as possible, but the recommendations must also have regard to community identities and interests and the need for effective and convenient local government. To achieve these aims, the Commission tries to ensure that the number of electors per councillor in every division or ward is as close as possible to the average for the authority, but is happy to show flexibility in moving away from the average based on the evidence provided during the consultation stages of the review. Following a four -stage review process the Commission published its 'New electoral arrangements for Liverpool City Council - Final recommendations'[1] on 6 September 2022.

7.3 The Order provides for changes to the electoral arrangements for Liverpool City Council at the city elections in 2023 as recommended by the Commission. The existing wards of the council will be replaced by 64 new ones. Three wards will each return three councillors, 15 wards will return two councillors and 46 wards will each return a single councillor. The Commission considered that the evidence received justified no wards having electoral variances of greater than 10% from the authority average by 2023.

7.4 Under section 56 of the 2009 Act, whenever the Commission recommends changes to the electoral arrangements for a borough, district or county council it must also recommend whether, in consequence of those changes, any changes should be made to the electoral arrangements for any parish council that is within the authority. Among other things, under Schedule 2 to that Act, recommendations must ensure that no parish ward is split between new city wards, and under section 56 of that Act, recommendations must be made regarding the number of parish councillors for each parish ward.

7.5 In the case of Liverpool City Council, it does not contain any parishes, so no changes of this nature have been made.

8. European Union Withdrawal and Future Relationship

8.1 This instrument does not relate to withdrawal from the European Union.

9. Consolidation

9.1 This Instrument does not amend or revoke any legislation.

10. Consultation outcome

10.1 The Order gives effect to recommendations that were consulted on during the review of electoral arrangements from July 2019 to September 2022. During the course of the review, the Commission received approximately 401 representations. The consultations involved the City Council, local MPs, local residents and other interested parties. There was an initial 10-week consultation, during which the Commission asked for proposals on the most appropriate number of councillors and ward boundaries for the city. The Commission considered that a council size of 85 would ensure effective and convenient local government for the authority. Having considered the submissions received, the Commission published its 'New electoral arrangements for Liverpool City Council – Draft Recommendations'[2] on 31 March 2022. Following a 10-week consultation on the draft recommendations, the Commission considered the further evidence received and published its final recommendations.

It also renamed 13 wards. 12.2 The impact on the public sector will be limited to the area for which the Order makes provision.
