CHAPTER xlvii.

A.D. 1899.

An Act to extend the municipal and police boundaries of the Burgh of Dumbarton for sanctioning a guarantee rate upon the owners and occupiers of lands and heritages in the burgh in further security of the interest on a portion of the debt of the Dumbarton Harbour Board and for other purposes. [20th June 1899.]

WHEREAS by the Dumbarton Waterworks Reclamation and Municipal Extension Act 1857 (in this Act called "the Act of 1857") the municipal boundaries of the burgh of Dumbarton were enlarged and made co-extensive with the parliamentary boundaries thereof and under the provisions of that Act and of the Burgh Police (Scotland) Act 1892 the Provost Magistrates and Town Council of the burgh of Dumbarton (in this Act called "the Town Council") are the commissioners of the burgh: 20 & 21 Vict. c. xx.

And whereas the population of the burgh has since the passing of the Act of 1857 greatly increased and spread beyond the limits then fixed and it is expedient that those boundaries should be extended and the wards of the burgh re-arranged as by this Act provided and that all franchises rights and privileges and immunities of the existing burgh should apply to the burgh as extended by this Act:

And whereas it is expedient that the powers and jurisdictions of the Town Council under the several Acts relating to the burgh and other jurisdictions should be extended as in this Act provided:

And whereas the present indebtedness of the Dumbarton Harbour Board (in this Act referred to as "the Board") in respect of moneys borrowed by them under the provisions of the Dumbarton Harbour Act 1881 (herein-after called "the Harbour Act") amounts to seventeen thousand four hundred and fifty pounds of which sum eight thousand pounds is due to the Commercial Bank of Scotland Limited upon an overdraft in connexion with which certain individual firms within the burgh have granted their personal 44 & 45 Vict. c. lxxxviii.

obligation and of the remainder six thousand nine hundred pounds has been advanced by the said firms as a matter of private arrangement:

And whereas the Board owing to the insufficiency of the security available have been unable to borrow the moneys required by them except by way of private arrangement as aforesaid and it is uncertain how long such arrangement may be continued:

And whereas in consequence of the indebtedness of the Board to the bank and to other parties as aforesaid and the payments made by them from time to time towards the reduction of the said debt out of the harbour rates and revenues no sum (other than such payments as aforesaid) has been set apart by the Board as a statutory sinking fund and the provisions of the Harbour Act with regard to a sinking fund have so far not been complied with:

And whereas the rate of interest payable in respect of the existing loans is unduly onerous and the Board for the reasons aforesaid are not in a position to borrow on more favourable terms:

And whereas the majority of the Board consists of members of the Town Council:

And whereas the prosperity of the burgh of Dumbarton is dependent upon the shipbuilding industry and the trade at the harbour of Dumbarton connected therewith and with the view to enabling the Board to raise money on less onerous terms it is expedient and would be very advantageous to the community of the burgh that the Town Council should be authorised to levy a guarantee rate on the owners and occupiers of lands and heritages within the burgh in further security of the interest on a portion of the moneys already authorised to be borrowed by the Board:

And whereas the purposes of this Act cannot be effected without the authority of Parliament:

May it therefore please Your Majesty that it may be enacted and be it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal and Commons in this present Parliament assembled and by the authority of the same as follows:—
