EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This Note is not part of the Regulations, but is intended to indicate their general purport.)

Under the Education Authority Bursaries (Scotland) Regulations, 1957, education authorities are required to estimate each year the expenditure which will be incurred in following his course by each student to whom a bursary has been awarded, and to deduct from it the amount, if any, of the contribution towards that expenditure which can be made by him and his parents. The amount payable is the excess of the estimated expenditure over the contribution.

These Regulations increase by £15 a year the amount to be taken into account for general expenses in estimating the expenditure to be incurred by most holders of whole-time further education bursaries.

The contribution is assessed by reference to a table according to the balance of income of the parents or other person liable to maintain the bursar, i.e. their total income after deduction of specified charges upon that income. The Regulations provide for an increase of £20 in the charge allowed in respect of the maintenance of certain dependants and for reductions in the contribution, as illustrated by the following examples.
