Regulation 9 provides for the postponement in certain circumstances of proceedings on a request for the review of felling directions or on a tree owner's notice requiring trees or land to be acquired. If such a request is made, proceedings on it may be postponed until such a notice is served in respect of the same directions or until the end of the period fixed for serving such a notice (whichever is the earlier). Similarly, if such a notice is served, proceedings on it may be postponed until such a request is made in respect of the same directions or until the end of the period fixed for making such a request (whichever is the earlier). The Regulation also provides for proceedings being taken concurrently before a committee on a request and a notice made and given in respect of the same directions.

Regulation 11 relates to enforcement notices given under Section 11 (1) of the Act which provides that such a notice must specify a time for compliance with it and that the time must not be less than the prescribed period after the notice has become operative. This regulation provides that the prescribed period shall be three months.

Regulation 13 is applicable in cases where consent to the felling of any trees is required under a Tree Preservation Order and the Forestry Commissioners propose to grant a licence authorising the felling or to give directions requiring the felling. The Regulation fixes at one month the period within which the authority by whom the order was made may object to the Commissioners' proposal.

The Regulations come into operation on the 1st October, 1951, the date on which the relevant provisions of the Act come into force.
