Provided that, so long as the upper limit of the compulsory school age for the purposes of the Great Britain Act and the upper age limit below which education is compulsory for the purpose of the Guernsey Law are not the same, a person shall be treated as subject to the upper age limit prescribed by the Act of the country in which an allowance for the family in which that person would be included if he or she were a child would be payable.

7. For the purpose of all or any of the provisions of the scheme of family allowances in force in Great Britain or Guernsey, as the case may be, allowances paid in one country shall be treated as if they had been allowances paid in the other country.
