CHAPTER 13.

An Act to authorise the establishment of Labour Bureaux throughout the Metropolis. [22nd July 1902.]

BE it enacted by the King's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

A borough council may establish a labour bureau.

1. It shall be lawful for the council of any metropolitan borough to establish and maintain a labour bureau.

The expenses thereof to be met out of the general rate.

2. Any expenses incurred by a borough council in or incidental to the exercise of the powers conferred by this Act shall be paid out of the general rate.

Meaning of labour bureau.

3. In this Act the term "labour bureau" shall mean an office or place used for the purpose of supplying information, either by the keeping of registers or otherwise, respecting employers who desire to engage workpeople and workpeople who seek engagement or employment.

Short title.

4. This Act may be cited as the Labour Bureaux (London) Act, 1902.

CHAPTER 14.

An Act to extend the privileges of the Graduates of the University of Wales. [22nd July 1902.]

BE it enacted by the King's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

Extension of privileges of graduates of the University of Wales.

1. Wherever any office is or shall be open to graduates of the Universities of Oxford, Cambridge and London, and of the Victoria University, or wherever any privilege or exemption has been or shall be given, by any Act of Parliament or regulation of any public authority, to graduates of the Universities of Oxford, Cambridge and London, and the Victoria University, graduates of the University of Wales, having the degree which would be a qualification if it had been granted by the University of Oxford, Cambridge or London, or the Victoria University, may become candidates for, and may hold, any such office, and shall be entitled to all such privileges as fully as graduates of any of the last-mentioned Universities.

Short title.

2. This Act may be cited as the University of Wales Act, 1902.
