2. All the lands, waterworks, sewage works, rates, assessments, and other property of the former local board for the Hitchin district vested in them at the time when the said local board lapsed, and which still remain unappropriated, are hereby transferred to and vested in the local board for the local government district of Hitchin, constituted by Provisional Order bearing date the ninth day of May, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-three, and shall be applied by such local board to such purposes as would have been lawful if they had been acquired by such last-mentioned local board: And all the liabilities of the said first-mentioned local board existing at the same time, except such as have been provided

Provision for reservoir and water supply by the Oxford local board.

3. The Oxford local board shall, after acquiring such water rights (if any) as may be requisite for the purpose, make and for ever maintain a reservoir by the side of the Garsington brook, above the intended sewage irrigation farm, capable of holding three hundred thousand gallons of water, and shall daily deliver or discharge into the said reservoir at the least fifty thousand gallons of water from the said brook; and the said local board shall also provide a means of straining, and shall duly strain the water before it enters the iron pipes, not exceeding four inches in diameter, and jointed with lead, to be also laid and maintained by such board, through which the water will be conveyed from the reservoir to the existing tank within the grounds of the lunatic asylum at Littlemore; and if at any time the water so conveyed shall become impure from the admission of sewage into the reservoir or pipes, it shall be obligatory on the said local board upon notice in writing signed by the clerk to the visitors, forthwith to remedy the defect. The visitors, their servants and agents, shall have a right of access at all reasonable times to the reservoir to examine into the quantity and pureness of the water. For the purpose of preserving the water in the reservoir free from pollution, the said local board shall not at any time apply sewage to the surface of the land within one hundred yards of the reservoir, unless it shall be proved to the satisfaction of the visitors of the asylum that a nearer approach would be innoxious: Provided, that if the land between the proposed reservoir and the asylum be not taken, or shall cease to be used for purposes of irrigation by sewage, this clause shall forthwith become null and void.
