6. Legislative Context

6.1 The Commission has power under section 59 of the Local Democracy, Economic Development and Construction Act 2009 (the 2009 Act) to make an order giving effect to recommendations contained in a report, prepared under section 58(4) of the 2009 Act, after conducting an electoral review under section 56(1) of that Act. This instrument is being made to give effect to the Commission's recommendations for new electoral arrangements set out in its report prepared following an electoral review of Hounslow Council.

7. Policy background

What is being done and why?

7.1 The purpose of an electoral review is to decide on the appropriate electoral arrangements including the number of councillors and the names, number and boundaries of wards or divisions for a specific local authority. The Commission began the electoral review of Hounslow Council in December 2018. The Commission decided to conduct the review as part of its programme of periodic electoral reviews of London Boroughs. Furthermore, based on the December 2017 electorate figures, 35% of wards had an electoral variance of greater than 10% from the average for the authority.

7.2 An electoral review aims to ensure that the number of electors represented by each county or district councillor is as close to equal as possible, but the recommendations must also have regard to community identities and interests and the need for effective and convenient local government. To achieve these aims, the Commission tries to ensure that the number of electors per councillor in every division or ward is as close as possible to the average for the authority, but is happy to show flexibility in moving away from the average based on the evidence provided during the consultation stages of the review. Following a four-stage review process the Commission published its 'New electoral arrangements for London Borough of Hounslow – Final Recommendations'[1] on 29 October 2019

7.3 The Order provides for changes to the electoral arrangements for Hounslow Council at the borough elections in 2022 as recommended by the Commission. The existing wards of the council will be replaced by 22 new ones. Eighteen wards will each return three councillors, and four wards will return two councillors. The Commission considered that the evidence received justified no wards having electoral variances of greater than 10% from the authority average by 2024.

7.4 Under section 56 of the 2009 Act, whenever the Commission recommends changes to the electoral arrangements for a borough, district or county council it must also recommend whether, in consequence of those changes, any changes should be made to the electoral arrangements for any parish council that is within the authority. Among other things, under Schedule 2 to that Act, recommendations must ensure that no parish ward is split between new borough wards, and under section 56 of that Act, recommendations must be made regarding the number of parish councillors for each parish ward.

7.5 In the case of Hounslow, this does not apply as the authority does not contain any parish councils.

8. European Union (Withdrawal) Act/Withdrawal of the United Kingdom from the European Union

8.1 This instrument does not relate to withdrawal from the European Union.

9. Consolidation

9.1 This Instrument does not amend or revoke any legislation.

10. Consultation outcome

10.1 The Order gives effect to recommendations that were consulted on during the review of electoral arrangements from January 2019 to August 2019. During the course of the review, the Commission received 71 representations. The consultations involved the Council, community groups, local MPs, local residents and other interested parties. There was an initial ten-week consultation, during which the Commission asked for proposals on the most appropriate number of councillors and ward boundaries for the borough. The Commission initially considered that a council size of 60 would ensure effective and convenient local government for the authority. However, having considered the submissions received, the Commission discovered that a council size of 61 would provide a better balance of its statutory criteria and based its draft recommendations on this figure. The Commission published its 'Draft recommendations on the new electoral arrangements for Hounslow Council[2] on 4 June 2019. Following a ten-week consultation on the draft recommendations, the Commission considered the further evidence received and published its final recommendations.

10.2 In response to the consultation on the draft recommendations, the Commission modified its recommendations for wards in the Chiswick, Feltham, Heston and Hanworth areas to better reflect community ties. The Commission also revised its proposed council size from 61 to 62 members to ensure a warding pattern in Heston and Cranford that better reflected community identities and interests in this area. It also renamed five wards. It recommended that the proposed Bedfont & Feltham North ward be renamed Bedfont, Feltham Central be renamed Feltham North, Hanworth be renamed Hanworth Village. Syon be renamed Syon & Brentford Lock, and Turnham Green be renamed Chiswick Gunnersbury.

10.3 The Commission confirmed its draft recommendations for the remainder of the borough as final.

10.4 A detailed analysis of the outcome of the consultation is set out in the report 'New electoral arrangements for London Borough of Hounslow – Final Recommendations'. As indicated in the Order, the mapping referred to in the Order is normally accessible at all reasonable times at the Commission's offices. Given the current Covid-19 situation, the Commission's offices are closed and the viewing of a hard copy of the map at its offices is not possible at this time. However, if any person wishes to view the map, the Commission will consider this and seek to make appropriate arrangements. Moreover, the relevant map, as well as the report is accessible on our website at http://www.lgbce.org.uk/all-reviews/greater-london/greater-london/hounslow

11. Guidance

11.1 The Commission does not intend to issue any guidance alongside this instrument. This is not considered necessary as the Order is self-explanatory and gives effect to recommendations following consultation with interested parties as to the changes to electoral arrangements.

12. Impact

12.1 There is no impact on business, charities or voluntary bodies.

12.2 The impact on the public sector will be limited to the area for which the Order makes provision. The one-off cost of producing the map referred to by the instrument is to be funded by the Commission. The one-off cost of amending the electoral register to reflect the new wards is to be funded by Hounslow Council.

12.3 An Impact Assessment has not been prepared for this instrument.

13. Regulating small business

13.1 The legislation does not apply to activities that are undertaken by small businesses.

14. Monitoring & review

14.1 The Commission will have no role in monitoring the Council's implementation of the Hounslow (Electoral Changes) Order 2020. The Commission is not required to undertake such monitoring; that is a matter for the relevant officers of Hounslow Council. The Order will be reviewed insofar as the Commission continually monitors local authorities in England to identify any that meet its criteria for electoral reviews.
