CHAPTER 39.

An Act to increase the rates of sickness and disablement benefit and the rates of contribution payable under the Acts relating to National Health Insurance, to extend the said Acts to persons employed otherwise than by way of manual labour at a rate of remuneration exceeding two hundred and fifty pounds a year, and in connection therewith to amend the Acts relating to widows', orphans' and old age contributory pensions and certain other enactments; to enable any of the Acts aforesaid to be adapted by regulations to wartime conditions; and to amend paragraph (a) of subsection (2) of section three of the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925. [7th August 1941.]

BE it enacted by the King's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

PART I.

NATIONAL HEALTH INSURANCE AND CONTRIBUTORY PENSIONS.

Increase of rates of sickness and disablement benefit.

1.—(1) Each of the rates of benefit specified in section forty-four of the Insurance Act (which relates to the rates of sickness and disablement benefit) shall be increased by three shillings a week and accordingly—

(a) the said section shall have effect as set out in Part I of the First Schedule to this Act; and

(b) the provisions of the enactments mentioned in Part II of the said Schedule, being provisions relating to benefit under the Insurance Act, shall be adjusted in the manner provided in that Part of that Schedule.

(2) Where the Minister is satisfied as regards any scheme which has been confirmed under section fifty-six of the Insurance Act that, by reason of the increase in the rates of benefit for which provision is made by this section, the value of the benefits conferred by the scheme is no longer equivalent to the value of the benefits for which they are substituted, the Minister may by order revoke the scheme.

(3) The Minister may make regulations under the Insurance Act as respects the continuance and cancellation of certificates granted under paragraph (b), (c) or (d) of Part II of the First Schedule to that Act (which except certain employments where the Minister certifies that the terms thereof are such as to secure provision in respect of sickness and disablement on the whole not less favourable than benefits conferred by the Act), in cases where by reason of the increase in the rates of benefit for which provision is made by this section, the terms of the employment no longer in his opinion comply with the requirements of the paragraph under which the certificate was issued.

Increase of rates of contribution.

2. The employed rate of contributions payable under the Insurance Act shall be increased by twopence a week, and the rate of the contributions payable by employed contributors and the rate of the contributions payable by their employers shall be increased in each case by one penny a week; and accordingly—

(a) Part I of the Second Schedule to the Insurance Act shall have effect as set out in Part I of the Second Schedule to this Act; and

(b) the provisions of the Insurance Acts and the Pensions Acts mentioned in Part II of the Second Schedule to this Act, being provisions relating to contributions, shall be adjusted in the manner provided in that Part of that Schedule.

Increase of remuneration limit.

3.—(1) The following provisions of the Insurance Act shall have effect as if for the words "two hundred and fifty pounds" in each place where they occur, there were substituted the words "four hundred and twenty pounds" namely—

(a) paragraph (k) of Part II of the First Schedule (which includes among excepted employments employment otherwise than by way of manual labour at a rate of remuneration exceeding two hundred and fifty pounds a year);

(b) subsection (2) of section thirty-four (which provides that a voluntary contributor whose total income exceeds two hundred and fifty pounds a year shall not be entitled to medical benefit);

(c) proviso (b) to subsection (3) of section thirty-four (which requires an exempt person whose total income exceeds two hundred and fifty pounds a year to make his own arrangements for receiving medical treatment and attendance).

(2) In the following provisions of the Pensions Act (which are related to the said paragraph (k) of Part II of the First Schedule to the Insurance Act), namely subsections (4) and (5) of section seventeen and the Second Schedule, for the words " two hundred and fifty pounds a year " in each place where they occur there shall be substituted the words " the amount of the health insurance limit for non-manual workers ", and for the purpose of the said provisions the expression " the amount of the health insurance limit for non-manual workers " shall mean—

(a) in the application of the said provisions to any period before the thirtieth day of June, nineteen hundred and nineteen, one hundred and sixty pounds a year;

(b) in the application of the said provisions to any period after the twenty-ninth day of June, nineteen hundred and nineteen and before the fifth day of January, nineteen hundred and forty-two, two hundred and fifty pounds a year; and

(c) in the application of the said provisions to any period after the fourth day of January, nineteen hundred and forty-two, four hundred and twenty pounds a year.

(3) If any question arises under sub-paragraph (a) of paragraph 1 of the Fourth Schedule to the Pensions Act (which relates to persons who died before the fourth day of January, nineteen hundred and twenty-six) whether contributions would have been payable under that Act if that Act had been in force before that date, that question shall be determined as if for the words " four hundred and twenty pounds ", wherever they occur in the said paragraph (k) of Part II of the First Schedule to the Insurance Act as amended by this Act, there were substituted—

(a) in a case where the question arises as respects a period before the thirtieth day of June, nineteen hundred and nineteen, the words " one hundred and sixty pounds "; and

(b) in a case where the question arises with respect to a subsequent period, the words " two hundred and fifty pounds ".

(4) Where—

(a) a free or extended insurance period to which any person is entitled by virtue of section six or section seven of the Insurance Act (whether as originally enacted or as applied by regulations made under any provision of the Insurance Acts) ends on the thirty-first day of December, nineteen hundred and forty-one; and

(b) on any of the four days beginning with the first day of January, nineteen hundred and forty-two, that person is not employed within the meaning of the Insurance Act, but would have been so employed if paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of this section had then been in force;

the free or extended insurance period, as the case may be, shall be extended so as to expire with the fifth day of January, nineteen hundred and forty-two.

(5) Nothing in paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of this section shall affect the definition of the expression "officer" contained in subsection (1) of section forty of the Local Government Superannuation Act, 1937, or in subsection (1) of section thirty-four of the Local Government Superannuation (Scotland) Act, 1937; and accordingly the reference in the said definition to the Insurance Act shall continue to be construed as if the said paragraph (a) had not been enacted.

1 Edw. 8. & 1 Geo. 6. cc. 68 & 69.

Increased cost of medical benefit and administration expenses.

4.—(1) The maximum yearly rate of the sum which, under subsection (2) of section one hundred and eighteen of the Insurance Act may be applied for the purpose of meeting the cost of medical benefit, the administration expenses of insurance committees, and expenses incurred by the Minister, shall be fourteen shillings and sixpence (instead of thirteen shillings) per year in respect of each of the total number (calculated in the prescribed manner) of the persons who are entitled to medical benefit as being or having been members of an approved society.

(2) So much of the said subsection (2) as limits the sums payable to insurance committees on account of their administration expenses to sixpence in respect of each of the total number aforesaid, and limits the sums payable to the Minister on account of his expenses to threepence in respect of each of that number, shall cease to have effect, and the sums so payable shall not exceed such sums as may be prescribed.

(3) This section shall come into operation on the first day of January, nineteen hundred and forty-two.

Increased provision for reserve values.

5. Section one hundred and forty-four of the Insurance Act (which requires the Minister to retain certain sums out of weekly contributions paid and to apportion a part thereof among approved societies in respect of reserve values) shall have effect subject to the following amendments:—

(a) the sum to be retained under paragraph (a) of subsection (1) shall be one penny and two-fifths of a penny

(instead of one penny and one-tenth of a penny) in the case of a man, and nineteen-twentieths of a penny (instead of four-fifths of a penny) in the case of a woman;

(b) the sum to be apportioned in respect of reserve values under paragraph (a) of subsection (2) shall be one penny and three-twentieths of a penny (instead of seventeen-twentieths of a penny) in the case of a man, and seven-tenths of a penny (instead of eleven-twentieths of a penny) in the case of a woman;

(c) the rate of the interest on the amount of reserve values for which provision is required to be made by paragraph (a) of subsection (2) shall be three and one-half per centum instead of three per centum.

Special Suspense Fund and Reserve Suspense Fund.

6.—(1) The Special Suspense Fund constituted by subsection (2) of section four of the Old Age and Widows' Pensions Act, 1940, shall be wound up, and the balance standing to the credit of that fund shall be transferred to the Reserve Suspense Fund.

3 & 4 Geo. 6. c. 13.

(2) There shall be debited to the Reserve Suspense Fund instead of the Special Suspense Fund any expenditure required to be debited to the last mentioned fund by subsection (4) of the said section four (which relates to expenditure during the transitional period in respect of sickness payments and the administration thereof).

(3) The Government Actuary shall estimate and certify—

(a) the amount by which the balance transferred under subsection (1) of this section exceeds the aggregate amount required to be debited to the Reserve Suspense Fund under subsection (2) of this section; and

(b) as respects every society having women amongst its members, the amount by which the liabilities of the society in respect of those members are increased by reason of the passing of this Act; and a grant equal in the aggregate to the amount certified under paragraph (a) of this subsection shall be apportioned among and credited to such societies as aforesaid in proportion to the amounts certified under paragraph (b) of this subsection, and debited to the Reserve Suspense Fund.

(4) The National Health Insurance Joint Committee, after consultation with the Government Actuary, shall make a scheme for determining the amount of the additional assets required to be held by each approved society, in excess of any grant credited to the society under the last foregoing subsection, to meet the increase in its liabilities occasioned by the passing of this Act; and there shall be debited to the Reserve Suspense Fund and credited to each society additional reserve values of an amount equal to the amount of the additional assets determined in accordance with the scheme to be so required by the society.

(5) In this section any reference to an approved society shall be construed—

(a) as including a reference to the Deposit Contributors Insurance Section and to the Navy, Army and Air Force Insurance Fund; and

(b) in the case of a society having branches, as a reference to each of those branches;

and where a society or branch having amongst its members both men and women is treated, by virtue of section one hundred and sixteen of the Insurance Act, as a society or branch consisting of two branches, the one consisting of men and the other of women, it shall be treated in like manner for the purposes of this section.

(6) This section shall come into operation on the first day of January, nineteen hundred and forty-two.

Unemployment Arrears Fund and Central Fund.

7.—(1) The sum which, under subsection (3) of section one hundred and fifty-seven of the Insurance Act, is to be credited to an approved society out of the Unemployment Arrears Fund in respect of arrears of contributions of its members, other than masters and seamen serving on foreign-going ships, shall be calculated at the rate of fourpence halfpenny instead of threepence halfpenny.

The foregoing provisions of this subsection shall have effect as respects arrears of contributions accruing during any period beginning on or after the fifth day of January, nineteen hundred and forty-two.

(2) So much of subsection (2) of section one hundred and fifty-four of the Insurance Act as provides for the repayment to approved societies of certain sums expended by them in paying maternity benefit shall cease to have effect.

(3) The sum to be transferred from the Pensions Account in respect of each half year under the proviso to subsection (2) of section fourteen of the Pensions Act in respect of sums collected on account of contributions payable under that Act in respect of persons employed within the meaning of the Insurance Act, being men who have attained the age of sixty-five or women who have attained the age of sixty, shall—

(a) in the case of every half year ending after the thirtieth day of June, nineteen hundred and forty-one, be transferred to the Unemployment Arrears Fund instead of to the Central Fund; and

(b) in the case of every half year ending after the thirty-first day of December, nineteen hundred and forty-one, be a sum equal to fivepence halfpenny (instead of fourpence halfpenny) multiplied by the number of contributions ascertained by the Minister to represent the sums so collected.

Power to adapt Insurance Acts and Pensions Acts to wartime conditions.

8.—(1) The Minister, with the approval of the Treasury, may by regulations modify or suspend the operation of such of the provisions of the Insurance Acts and the Pensions Acts, and make such provision in respect of any of the matters to which the said Acts relate, as he considers expedient for the purpose of adapting the provisions of the said Acts to the conditions arising by reason of any war in which His Majesty may be engaged:

Provided that no such regulations shall—

(a) alter any rate of benefit, rate of pension or rate of contribution specified in any provision of the said Acts; or

(b) alter the proportion of the funds required for defraying the cost of benefits and the expenses of the administration thereof which, under section twelve of the Insurance Act, is to be derived from contributions made by or in respect of contributors by themselves or their employers.

(2) Any such regulations may provide that they shall be deemed to have come into operation on a date before the making thereof, not being earlier than the third day of September, nineteen hundred and thirty-nine.

(3) Subsection (2) of section one hundred and sixty-seven of the Insurance Act (which requires regulations to be laid before Parliament) shall apply to regulations made under this section as it applies to regulations made under that Act.

(4) This section shall continue in force so long as the Emergency Powers (Defence) Act, 1939, continues in force: 2 & 3 Geo. 6. c. 62.

Provided that, if before the expiration of this section each House of Parliament resolves that any regulation made under this section, or any provision of such a regulation, shall continue in force notwithstanding the expiration of this section, that regulation or provision shall continue in force accordingly.

Provision for increased expenditure.

9. There shall be defrayed out of moneys provided by Parliament any increase resulting from the operation of this Part of this Act in expenditure which is authorised to be so defrayed under or by virtue of the Insurance Acts, the Pensions Acts, the Unemployment Assistance Act, 1934, the Old Age Pensions Act, 1936, or Part II of the Old Age and Widows Pensions Act, 1940. 24 & 25 Geo. 5. c. 29. 26 Geo. 5. & 1 Edw. 8. c. 31.

Interpretation. 26 Geo. 5. & 1 Edw. 8. c. 32.

10. In this Part of this Act the following expressions have the meanings hereby respectively assigned to them :—

" Insurance Act " means the National Health Insurance Act, 1936, as amended by any subsequent enactment ;

" Insurance Acts " means the National Health Insurance Acts, 1936 to 1939 ;

26 Geo. 5. & 1 Edw. 8. c. 33.

" Pensions Act " means the Widows', Orphans' and Old Age Contributory Pensions Act, 1936, as amended by any subsequent enactment ;

" Pensions Acts " means the Widows', Orphans' and Old Age Contributory Pensions Acts, 1936 to 1940.

Application to Northern Ireland.

11.—(1) This Part of this Act, so far as it relates to matters with respect to which the Parliament of Northern Ireland has power to make laws, shall not extend to Northern Ireland unless and until provision to that effect is made either—

(a) by an Act of the Parliament of Northern Ireland ; or

(b) by an Order of the Governor of Northern Ireland in Council made in pursuance of such an Act ;

and if and when such provision is made, this Part of this Act shall extend to Northern Ireland subject to such exceptions and adaptations as may be specified in such Act or Order as aforesaid.

For the purposes of this subsection, the matter to which section eight of this Act relates shall be deemed to be a matter with respect to which the Parliament of Northern Ireland has power to make laws.

10 & 11 Geo. 5. c. 67.

(2) For the purposes of section six of the Government of Ireland Act, 1920, this Part of this Act shall be deemed to be an Act passed before the appointed day.

Construction, commencement and repeal.

12.—(1) So much of this Part of this Act as relates to insurance under the Insurance Acts shall be construed as one with the National Health Insurance Acts, 1936 to 1939, and may be cited together with those Acts as the National Health Insurance Acts, 1936 to 1941.

(2) So much of this Part of this Act as relates to insurance within the meaning of the Pensions Acts shall be construed as one with the Widows', Orphans' and Old Age Contributory Pensions Acts, 1936 to 1940, and may be cited together with those Acts as the Widows', Orphans' and Old Age Contributory Pensions Acts, 1936 to 1941.

(3) Any provision of this Part of this Act which enables the Minister to make regulations and the provisions of the last foregoing section shall come into operation on the date of the passing of this Act, and any other provision of this Part of this Act shall, except where otherwise expressly provided, come into operation on the fifth day of January, nineteen hundred and forty-two.

(4) The enactments set out in the Third Schedule to this Act are hereby repealed to the extent specified in the third column of that Schedule.

PART II.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION.

Increase of remuneration limit for purposes of workmen's compensation. 15 & 16 Geo. 5. c. 84.

13.—(1) Paragraph (a) of subsection (2) of section three of the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1925 (which excepts from the definition of the expression " workman " in that Act persons employed otherwise than by way of manual labour whose remuneration exceeds three hundred and fifty pounds a year) shall have effect as if for the words " three hundred and fifty pounds " there were substituted the words " four hundred and twenty pounds ".

(2) This section shall come into operation on the first day of January, nineteen hundred and forty-two.

(3) This section shall be construed as one with the Workmen's Compensation Acts, 1925 to 1940, and may be cited together with those Acts as the Workmen's Compensation Acts, 1925 to 1941.

PART III.

GENERAL.

Short title.

14. This Act may be cited as the National Health Insurance, Contributory Pensions and Workmen's Compensation Act, 1941.

SCHEDULES.

Section 1.

FIRST SCHEDULE.

RATES OF BENEFIT.

PART I.

SECTION FORTY-FOUR OF THE INSURANCE ACT AS AMENDED BY THIS ACT.

Rates of sickness and disablement benefit.

44. The ordinary rate of sickness benefit shall be, in the case of a man, eighteen shillings a week, and, in the case of a woman, thirteen shillings a week during the subsistence of any marriage and fifteen shillings a week at any other time; and the ordinary rate of disablement benefit shall be, in the case of a man, ten shillings and sixpence a week, and, in the case of a woman, eight shillings a week during the subsistence of any marriage and nine shillings a week at any other time:

Provided that, until one hundred and four weeks have elapsed since the entry of an insured person into insurance and one hundred and four weekly contributions have been paid by or in respect of that person, the rate of sickness benefit to which that person shall be entitled shall be, in the case of a man, twelve shillings a week, and, in the case of a woman, ten shillings and sixpence a week.

PART II.

ADJUSTMENT OF MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS RELATING TO BENEFIT.

1. The amount by which the rate of any sickness or disablement benefit is to be reduced, under subsection (1) of section one hundred and thirty-two of the Insurance Act, throughout a period in respect of which a pension is payable in respect of disablement in the highest degree in consequence of the late war, shall be increased from seven shillings and sixpence to ten shillings and sixpence a week.

2. The amount of benefit under the Insurance Act which is required to be disregarded—

(a) under paragraph (a) of subsection (3) of section thirty-eight of the Unemployment Assistance Act, 1934, in computing the resources of any person for the purpose of determining the need and assessing the needs of an applicant for an allowance under that Act;

(b) under the said paragraph (a) as applied by section ten of the Old Age and Widows' Pensions Act, 1940, in computing the resources of any person for the purpose of determining the need and assessing the needs of an applicant for a supplementary pension under the last-mentioned Act;

(c) under the said paragraph (a) as applied by section two of the Blind Persons Act, 1920 (as amended by section two of the Blind Persons Act, 1938), in computing the resources of any person for the purpose of determining the needs of a blind person; and 10 & 11 Geo. 5. c. 49. 1 & 2 Geo. 6. c. 11.

(d) under subsection (2) of section forty-eight of the Poor Law Act, 1930, and subsection (1) of section eleven of the Poor Law (Scotland) Act, 1934, in granting or affording out-door relief; 20 & 21 Geo. 5. c. 17. 24 & 25 Geo. 5 c. 52.

shall be the first ten shillings and sixpence instead of the first seven shillings and sixpence of such benefit; and accordingly such of the provisions of any regulations in force immediately before the fifth day of January, nineteen hundred and forty-two, under section thirty-eight of the Unemployment Assistance Act, 1934 or under that section as applied with modifications by section ten of the Old Age and Widows' Pensions Act, 1940, as are contained therein by virtue of paragraph (a) of subsection (3) of the said section thirty-eight shall have effect with the substitution for references to the first seven shillings and sixpence a week of such benefit of references to the first ten shillings and sixpence a week of such benefit.

SECOND SCHEDULE.

Section 2.

PART II.

ADJUSTMENT OF MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS RELATING TO CONTRIBUTIONS.

1. The rate of the contributions payable under section sixteen of the Insurance Act in respect of an exempt person, not being a master or seaman serving on a foreign-going ship, shall be fivepence halfpenny (instead of fourpence halfpenny) per week.

2. The maximum rate of contributions for which provision may be made by order under section twenty-eight of the Insurance Act (which relates to casual or intermittent employment) shall be tenpence (instead of eightpence) in the case of the employer's contribution, fivepence halfpenny (instead of fourpence halfpenny) in the case of the contribution of an employed contributor being a man, and fivepence (instead of fourpence) in the case of the contribution of an employed contributor being a woman.

3. The sum to be paid out of moneys provided by Parliament under section one hundred and twenty-nine of the Insurance Act in respect of a man of the forces being a member of an approved society shall be fourpence (instead of threepence) in respect of each contribution week or part of a contribution week for which he receives pay ; and the sum which, under paragraph (c) of subsection (1) of section one hundred and thirty of that Act, is to be credited to his approved society and to be treated as having been expended on benefits shall be a sum equal to sevenpence (instead of sixpence) for each weekly contribution paid.

4. The sum which, under paragraph (a) of subsection (1) of section one hundred and thirty-one of the Insurance Act, is to be credited to the Navy, Army and Air Force Insurance Fund in respect of a man of the forces who is not a member of an approved society, and is to be treated as having been expended on benefits, shall be a sum equal to sevenpence (instead of sixpence) for each weekly contribution paid.

5. The amount by which, under subsection (3) of section one hundred and thirty-five of the Insurance Act, the employed rate and the employer's contribution is to be reduced in the case of a master or seaman serving on a foreign-going ship shall be threepence (instead of twopence halfpenny) a week.

6. The rate of the contribution payable under paragraph (a) of section one hundred and thirty-nine of the Insurance Act in respect of a constable of the metropolitan police force shall be fourpence (instead of threepence) a week; and the sum which, under paragraph (c) of that section, is to be credited to an approved society of which he is a member, and to be treated as having been expended on benefits, shall be a sum equal to sevenpence (instead of sixpence) a week.

7. The weekly rates of the contributions payable in respect of persons engaged in certain war occupations under the following provisions of the National Health Insurance and Contributory Pensions (Emergency Provisions) Act, 1939, namely paragraph (a) of subsection (2) of section one and sub-paragraph (i) of paragraph (c) of subsection (1) of section two, shall be fourpence (instead of threepence) in the case of a man and threepence halfpenny (instead of twopence halfpenny) in the case of a woman; and the sum which, under section three of that Act, is to be credited to an approved society and to be treated as having been expended on benefits shall be a sum equal to sevenpence (instead of sixpence) for each weekly contribution paid.

2 & 3 Geo. 6. c. 84.

8. The following table shall be substituted for the table contained in Part II of the First Schedule to the Pensions Act:—

"RATES OF CONTRIBUTIONS IN RESPECT OF PERSONS EMPLOYED WITHIN THE MEANING OF THE INSURANCE ACT WHO, BEING MEN, HAVE ATTAINED THE AGE OF 65, OR, BEING WOMEN, HAVE ATTAINED THE AGE OF 60.
