EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This Note is not part of the regulations, but is intended to indicate their general purport.)

These regulations revoke the National Health Service (Medical Auxiliaries) (Scotland) Regulations 1954 (as amended), which applied to certain classes of Medical Auxiliaries. The new regulations prescribe, in respect of Speech Therapists only, qualifications for employment in National Health Service hospitals or by local health authorities or education authorities, identical with those in the revoked regulations. The National Health Service (Professions Supplementary to Medicine) (Scotland) Regulations 1964 (S.I. 1964/995) now prescribe the qualifications of the other classes to which the revoked regulations applied.
