EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This Note is not part of the Regulations.)

By section 106(1) of the National Parks and Access to the Countryside Act 1949 the provisions of the Local Government Act 1933 (23 & 24 Geo. 5. c. 51) relating to the procedure for making byelaws were applied to byelaws made by the Nature Conservancy subject to such adaptations as might be prescribed by regulations made by the Secretary of State. The Nature Conservancy (Byelaws) Regulations 1956 made such adaptations. Under section 3(3) of the Science and Technology Act 1965 the activities of the Nature Conservancy are taken over by the Natural Environment Research Council, and these Regulations make amendments to the Regulations of 1956 consequential thereon.
