PIPE-LINES

The Pipe-lines (Limits of Deviation) Regulations 1962

Made - - - -	22nd December 1962
Laid before Parliament	7th January 1963
Coming into Operation	10th January 1963

The Minister of Power, in exercise of the powers conferred upon him by Sections 2 and 53 of the Pipe-lines Act 1962(a), and of all other powers him enabling, hereby makes the following regulations:—

1. These regulations shall come into operation on 10th January 1963 and may be cited as the Pipe-lines (Limits of Deviation) Regulations 1962.

2. The Interpretation Act 1889(b) shall apply to the interpretation of these regulations as it applies to the interpretation of an Act of Parliament.

3. The limits of lateral deviation of a local pipe-line for the purposes of Section 2 (1) of the Pipe-lines Act 1962 shall be one hundred feet from the route delineated on the map which by virtue of Section 2 (2) of that Act must accompany the notice of intention to execute works for the construction of that pipe-line.

Dated 22nd December 1962.

Richard Wood.
Minister of Power.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Regulations, but is intended to indicate their general purport.)

Section 2 of the Pipe-lines Act 1962 makes it unlawful for works to be executed in land for the construction of a local pipe-line otherwise than along the route delineated on the map which accompanies the notice to the Minister of Power required by that section, or within such limits of lateral deviation as may be prescribed. These regulations prescribe a limit of deviation of 100 feet from the route delineated on the map.
