EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This Note is not part of the Order.)

The Order raises the income limits governing entitlement to rate rebates in Scotland. Under section 5 of the Rating Act 1966 domestic occupiers are entitled to a rebate equal to two-thirds of the amount by which their reckonable rates for a six months rebate period exceed £3·75 provided their incomes are within the specified limits. These limits are at present £318·50 for a married couple or £260 for a single person over the relevant six months period (equal on average to £12·25 a week or £10 a week respectively) increased by £52 (£2 a week) for each child resident with the applicant. The order increases these limits to £383·50 (£14·75 a week) for a married couple and £312 (£12 a week) for a single person, increased by £65 (£2·50 a week) for each child.
