EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Order)

This Order amends the Rehabilitation of Offenders (Exclusions and Exceptions) (Scotland) Order 2013 ("the 2013 Order") in connection with the establishment of domestic homicide and suicide reviews under Part 2 of the Criminal Justice Modernisation and Abusive Domestic Behaviour Reviews (Scotland) Act 2025 ("the 2025 Act"). These reviews examine events associated with a domestic homicide or suicide with a view to learning lessons for the future.

Article 2(2) of this Order inserts new definitions into the 2013 Order in connection with the amendments made by article 2(3) to (5).

The amendments made by article 2(3) to (5) of this Order provide for exclusions and exceptions from provisions of the Rehabilitation of Offenders Act 1974 ("the 1974 Act") which prevent disclosure of information about an individual's previous convictions or alternatives to prosecution after these have become spent under that Act. (Alternatives to prosecution are defined in section 8B of the 1974 Act). These exclusions and exceptions apply where either a designated core participant in a domestic homicide or suicide review is required to provide information as part of their duty to co-operate in that review (see section 25(1) of the 2025 Act) or a person is required to provide information in connection with such a review in response to a notice issued by a requiring authority under section 26(1) of the 2025 Act. In either case, that duty to provide information will encompass details of spent convictions and alternatives to prosecution where these are covered by the relevant information request or notice.

These exclusions and exceptions will enable a domestic homicide or suicide review to examine the full history of an abusive relationship including any convictions or alternatives to prosecution which have become spent.
