EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This Note is not part of the scheme, but is intended to indicate its general purport.)

This scheme, which is the second to be made under section 1 of the Agriculture (Small Farmers) Act 1959, provides for the making of grants to any person carrying on in Scotland a small farm business capable of yielding an adequate return to a reasonably efficient full-time occupier, if such a person carries out with the approval of the Secretary of State a plan for increasing the efficiency of the business.

The scheme applies to plans submitted for approval during the 5 year period from 1st August 1962 to 31st July 1967. The previous scheme (S.I. 1959/573) is amended so as to apply only to plans submitted before the commencement of this period, instead of until 18th February 1964. Under the new scheme the upper limit of eligibility will be 500 standard man-days instead of 450, and approval of a plan is no longer prohibited where a livestock rearing land improvement scheme is being carried out. With these exceptions, apart from minor and consequential alterations, the scheme is in accordance with its predecessor. The acreage limits of 20 to 100 acres are the same; farm business grant remains at £6 per acre on the whole farm, excluding rough grazing, subject to a maximum of £360, and field husbandry grants for individual operations remain unchanged, as does the overall limit of £1,000 in respect of any one plan.
