EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This Note is not part of the Regulations.)

These Regulations amend the Social Security (Contributions) Regulations 1975 ("the principal Regulations") and are consequential on the passing of the Social Security Pensions Act 1975 ("the Pensions Act"). Accordingly no reference has been made of them to the National Insurance Advisory Committee.

These Regulations provide for the prescription of the earnings limits for the first tax year after section 2 of the Pensions Act comes into force and they substitute new scales of contributions which take account of those new earnings limits and of the new rates imposed under that Act. They also provide for persons over pensionable age automatically to be excepted from Class 4 liability.

The Regulations substitute new provisions in Case D of Part VIII of the principal Regulations taking account of the abolition under section 3 of the Pensions Act of the married women's option and reduced rate contributions, and under section 3(2) of that Act makes provision for those who are married or widowed when that section comes into force nevertheless to make an election. It also continues in force elections which, but for section 3 coming into force, would have continued to subsist thereafter and likewise continues in force existing rights of reduction of contribution liability of newly widowed women and permits future reduction for women who become widowed between the date on which section 3 of the Pensions Act comes into force and that on which section 2 of that Act comes into force.

The other amendments are of a minor consequential nature.
