EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This Note is not part of the Order, but is intended to indicate its general purport.)

This Order amends the Special Constables (Pensions) Order 1962, which gives to special constables and their dependants certain pension benefits for which members of police forces and their dependants are eligible.

The Police Pensions (Amendment) Regulations 1964 relate to the above-mentioned benefits payable to the dependants of members of police forces. The period for which an allowance is payable to a child who is undergoing full-time education or is an apprentice is extended until the child attains the age of 19 years. The amounts of certain discretionary children's benefits are increased. An adjustment is made in the extent of the abatement of a widow's pension by a national insurance widowed mother's allowance.

The present Order makes similar changes in relation to the benefits payable to the dependants of special constables.
