EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This Note is not part of the Regulations.)

The Special Constables (Pensions) Regulations 1971 (which apply in relation to special constables who ceased to hold office before 1st April 1972) give to the widows of special constables certain pension benefits for which the widows of members of police forces are eligible under the Police Pensions Regulations 1971. In particular, they make provision for discretionary increases, in certain circumstances, in special constabulary widows' pensions corresponding to the provision made in that behalf, in the case of police widows, by the last mentioned Regulations.

These Regulations make provision for the payment of a gratuity of £10 in the case of a special constabulary widow in receipt of such a discretionary increase in her special constabulary widow's pension during the week beginning with 26th November 1973 if she has attained the age of 60 years before the end of that week but is not entitled to a payment under section 1(1) of the Pensioners' Payments and National Insurance Act 1973. This provision corresponds to that made in the case of police widows by the Police Pensions (Lump Sum Payments to Widows) Regulations 1973 (S.I. 1973/1815).
