Regulation 7 substitutes new provisions for the existing provisions of the 1955 Regulations which enable a regular policeman to allocate a portion of his pension in favour of a dependant. The main changes are the extension of the provisions to permit the allocation of an ill-health pension as well as of an ordinary or short-service pension, and to permit a policeman entitled to reckon twenty-five years' pensionable service to allocate his pension rights while still serving. In such case, if he dies while serving, a pension becomes payable to the beneficiary of the allocation.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This Note is not part of the Order, but is intended to indicate its general purport.)

This Order, which is made under the Special Constables Act, 1914 (as amended by the Special Constables Act, 1923), amends the Special Constables (Pensions) Order, 1955, the Special Constables (Pensions) Order, 1950, and the Special Constables (Pensions) Order, 1949, which gave to special constables and their dependants certain pension benefits for which members of police forces and their dependants were eligible. Regulation 1 amends the Order of 1955, which relates to awards made on and after 9th May, 1955; Regulation 2 amends the Order of 1950, which relates to awards made between 16th May, 1950, and 9th May, 1955, and Regulation 3 amends the Order of 1949, which relates (as regards dependants) to awards made before 16th May, 1950.

The Police Pensions Regulations, 1958, provided for larger discretionary increases in awards made to widows and children of members of police forces and adjusted the extent of the abatement of a widow's pension by a national insurance widowed mother's allowance. This Order makes similar provision in relation to awards to widows and children of special constables.
