SCHEDULE.

ST. ENOCH'S CHURCH AND PARISH QUOAD SACRA.

Provisional Order to authorise the suppression of St. Enoch's Church Glasgow and the discharge of all the Corporation of Glasgow's liabilities therefor the annexation of St. Enoch's quoad sacra parish Glasgow to another parish or parishes the suppression of Hogganfield Church and Parish quoad sacra and the disjunction and erection of a new church and parish quoad sacra the transfer of the endowments of Hogganfield Church to such new church and parish and the further endowment thereof and the application of the prices of Hogganfield Church and manse the transfer to the Presbytery of Glasgow of St. Enoch's Sunday school and other property in Ropework Lane and mortifications connected with St. Enoch's Church and parish the transfer of certain other funds of St. Enoch's Church to the new church and other matters relating to these objects.

WHEREAS St. Enoch's Church Glasgow was built by the magistrates and town council of the city of Glasgow as one of the city churches of Glasgow and was erected into a church by decreet of erection by the Court of Teinds of date the seventeenth day of July one thousand seven hundred and eighty-two and the said magistrates and town council became by the said decreet responsible for the minister's stipend and various other charges and liable to uphold and repair the said church:

And whereas by decreet of the Court of Teinds dated the seventh day of June one thousand eight hundred and twenty a parish quoad sacra was attached to St. Enoch's Church:

And whereas by decree of the Court of Session of date the fifteenth day of July one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one in causa the Reverend Archibald Maclaren then minister of St. Enoch's Church against the Corporation of Glasgow (hereinafter referred to as "the Corporation ") as coming in place of the said magistrates and council the stipend payable by the Corporation to the minister of St. Enoch's Church was increased to six hundred pounds per annum:

And whereas owing to the migration of population and to changes that have taken place in the district in which the said church is situated and with the view of providing improved traffic facilities in and through St. Enoch's Square the Corporation approached the Presbytery of Glasgow (hereinafter referred to as "the Presbytery") and suggested that if the Presbytery would agree to the removal of St. Enoch's Church the Corporation would provide funds for the erection and endowment of a new church in lieu of the present St. Enoch's Church and for various other objects:

And whereas after various negotiations the Corporation offered to pay and the Presbytery agreed to accept the sum of thirty-six thousand five hundred pounds in full of the Corporation's pecuniary liabilities in connection with St. Enoch's Church and Parish quoad sacra subject to a Provisional Order under the Private Legislation Procedure (Scotland) Act 1899 being confirmed by Parliament and to the sanction of the Court of Teinds to the suppression of the said church being obtained:

And whereas the persons resident in St. Enoch's quoad sacra parish are now under nine hundred and fifty in number and they all reside within about three minutes' walk of other two similar churches with adequate sitting accommodation for them, and it is expedient to annex St. Enoch's Parish quoad sacra to another parish or parishes:

And whereas considerable shifting of the population has been taking place the tendency being to go towards the outside areas and several new centres of population have sprung up and at Riddrie which is in the parish of Glasgow a large number of houses of one two three four and five apartments have been erected under the housing scheme of the Corporation of Glasgow and there will in the immediate future be at Riddrie a population of about five thousand people:

And whereas the houses that are being erected at Riddrie are mainly within the quoad sacra parish of Hogganfield which is within the bounds of the Presbytery of Glasgow but are at a considerable distance from the

A.D. 1924. existing Hogganfield Church and the church at Hogganfield has only sitting accommodation for four hundred and is too small to accommodate the future population:

And whereas the Presbytery of Glasgow after conferring with the kirk-session of St. Enoch's think it wise in lieu of the present St. Enoch's Church to erect a larger new church at this new centre of population at Riddrie convenient to the dwellings of the population there and unite the future congregation of such new church with the congregation of Hogganfield Church:

And whereas the Presbytery of Glasgow after conferring with the minister and kirk-session of Hogganfield Church are of opinion that the most expedient course would be to suppress Hogganfield Church and Parish quoad sacra and to disjoin and erect a new church and parish quoad sacra which would include the existing church and parish quoad sacra of Hogganfield and be called St. Enoch's Hogganfield Church and Parish quoad sacra and endow the same and as soon as practicable build a new church within such new parish and transport St. Enoch's Hogganfield Church and endowments to such new church and thereafter sell or otherwise use or dispose of the existing Hogganfield Church and manse and relative offices:

And whereas in order to carry through such arrangements it would be expedient that Hogganfield Church and Parish should be suppressed and the decreet of the Court of Teinds dated the twelfth day of January one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five erecting Hogganfield Church and Parish quoad sacra should be annulled and that the trustees holding the existing endowments for the minister of Hogganfield Church and for keeping up the fabric of Hogganfield Church should be authorised to transfer such endowments to the trustees to be appointed to act under the deed of constitution to be granted by the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland for the proposed St. Enoch's Hogganfield Church and Parish quoad sacra to be applied by them in terms thereof and that parties holding any other funds or investments for Hogganfield Church should be authorised to pay the same over to the trustees for the St. Enoch's Hogganfield Church:

And whereas after the proposed larger new church is erected the building forming the present Hogganfield Church will become unnecessary and it is expedient that authority should be given to the trustees then vested in and holding the property of the present Hogganfield Church and manse to transfer and dispone the present Hogganfield Church and manse and sites to the Presbytery of Glasgow and that the Presbytery of Glasgow should thereafter be vested in them and have power to use sell or dispose of the same and to apply the proceeds thereof and of any other moneys belonging to Hogganfield Church towards the erection and endowment of St. Enoch's Hogganfield Church and Parish and as the manse at present forms part of the endowment of Hogganfield Church and is built on the same plot of ground as the church and represents one-fourth of the total value of the said church manse and sites it is expedient that one-fourth of the nett proceeds of the said church manse and sites should be applied towards the endowment of St. Enoch's Hogganfield Church:

And whereas there is a heritable property in Ropework Lane Glasgow at present occupied by St. Enoch's sessional and Sunday school and Manning and Company Limited which is vested in the minister and kirk-session of St. Enoch's Church and which for many years has been used for Sunday school and other purposes in connection with St. Enoch's Church and there are also mortifications bequests or charities (specified in the Third Schedule to this Order) vested in and administered by the kirk-session of St. Enoch's Church for religious and educational work within the present parish of St. Enoch's and the distance between the St. Enoch's Church and the proposed new church is too great to allow of the minister and kirk-session of such new church conveniently administering the said heritable property and mortifications and it is expedient that the said heritable property in Ropework Lane and the said mortifications bequests or charities should be vested in or transferred to trustees for the Presbytery of Glasgow for the purposes specified in this Order and that the trustees holding the said property in Ropework Lane and mortifications bequests or charities be authorised to dispone or transfer the same to trustees for the Presbytery of Glasgow:

And whereas the minister of St. Enoch's Church in virtue of his office is a patron trustee or director on various public trusts and institutions and the minister and kirk-session of St. Enoch's Church are members of the General

A.D. 1924. Session Glasgow and it is desirable to keep up the historical associations connected with St. Enoch's Church and therefore expedient that the minister of the St. Enoch's Hogganfield Church and the proposed new church should take the place of the minister of St. Enoch's Church on these public trusts and institutions and that the minister and kirk-session of St. Enoch's Hogganfield Church and the said new church should be members of the General Session Glasgow:

And whereas with the view of keeping up the historical associations of St. Enoch's Church it is expedient that the Presbytery of Glasgow should have power to remove from the present St. Enoch's Church the organ bell clock communion vessels and tables war memorial stained glass windows and other moveable fittings and furniture and use these in the proposed new church or any church or church buildings the Presbytery may think advisable:

And whereas it is expedient that with the exception of the said mortifications and bequests or charities specified in the Third Schedule to this Order all other investments bequests or funds connected or that may be connected with St. Enoch's Church or congregation should be paid over or transferred to the minister and kirk-session of the proposed St. Enoch's Hogganfield Church to be applied or administered by them:

And whereas it is expedient that the Presbytery should apply the proceeds of any sale of Hogganfield Church and other assets towards the cost of such new larger church and that they should also out of the said thirty-six thousand five hundred pounds have power to pay the remainder of the cost of the new larger church and to contribute to an increased endowment of St. Enoch's Hogganfield Church and also to pay the cost of a church hall at present being erected at Riddrie and a retiring allowance to the Reverend J. F. Andison the present minister of Hogganfield Church and any ann and vacant stipend that may become due and also to pay the costs of this Order and any other expenditure that they may incur in connection therewith and that any balance that may remain should be formed into a fund to be called "the St. Enoch's Fund" to be used for purposes connected with the Church of Scotland within the bounds of the Presbytery of Glasgow:

And whereas it is expedient that the Court of Teinds should have power to consider and dispose of all matters coming before the said court under this Order either on a single application from the Presbytery of Glasgow or other parties interested or on several applications:

And whereas the purposes aforesaid cannot be effected without an Order from the Secretary of Scotland confirmed by Parliament under the provisions of the Private Legislation Procedure (Scotland) Act 1899:

Now therefore in pursuance of the powers contained in the last-mentioned Act the Secretary for Scotland orders as follows:—
