EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Order, but is intended to indicate its general purport.)

Sections 5(1) and 6(1) of the Superannuation (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act (Northern Ireland), 1951, make provision for rules to preserve continuity of pension rights where pensionable staff transfer between the civil service and certain other employments. This Order provides that pensionable employment as a civil servant in the United Kingdom civil service and by certain other United Kingdom authorities shall be designated as employments for the purposes of those sub-sections.

The Order paves the way for the making of rules for preserving the pension rights of persons with service both in the civil service and in any of the employments mentioned who may thereafter transfer to certain other pensionable employments. Statutory arrangements preserving the pension rights of a person transferring between the civil service and any of the employments specified in the Order already exist. If, however, such a person subsequently transfers to certain other pensionable employment, only his pension rights in respect of the immediately preceding employment can be preserved. The effect of the rules which it is intended to make will be to secure that it would be possible to aggregate and make a single superannuation award in respect of his service throughout.
