scale, of £170 in the eighteenth year and of £125 in the twenty-first and subsequent years of service.

New scales are included for teachers who obtained their certificates after practical experience in industry or commerce under the recent amendment of the Regulations for the Training of Teachers.

The responsibility element in the salaries of teachers holding posts of special responsibility is increased in most cases. For example, in addition to their basic element, head teachers of the largest primary schools will receive £310 instead of sums varying from £200 to £280; head teachers of the largest junior secondary schools will receive £490 instead of sums varying from £350 to £430; and the head teachers of the largest senior secondary schools will receive £710 instead of sums varying from £550 to £630.
