EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This Note is not part of the Regulations, but is intended to indicate their general purport.)

These Regulations replace the Training of Teachers Regulations, 1947. The principal changes are in Regulation 36, which discontinues the differentiation in the rate of maintenance grant payable to men and women day students, respectively: and in Regulation 40, which specifies the arrangements for the administration of (i) Supplementary (i.e. Third-Year) Courses (which may be taken end-on to the Training College course or after an interval); and (ii) Special Courses for more experienced teachers, designed to equip them for more responsible and supervisory posts, particularly in connection with Training Colleges.

Apart from the change in Regulation 36, which is by way of omission, changes in the Regulations are shown in heavier type.
