EXPLANATORY NOTE.

(This note is not part of the Regulations, but is intended to indicate their general purport.)

These Regulations revoke and re-enact with amendments the Whaling Industry (Ship) Regulations, 1951, as amended by the Whaling Industry (Ship) (Amendment) Regulations, 1952, and give effect, in relation to United Kingdom and Colonial ships, to certain resolutions of the International Whaling Commission which came into force after those Regulations were made.

The principal resolutions to which effect is given by these Regulations are as follows:—

(1) Prohibiting the killing of blue whales before 16th January in any year;

(2) Reducing to 15,500 the total number of blue whale units that may be taken in any year in waters south of 40° south latitude by catchers attached to factory ships of the powers bound by the resolutions of the Commission;

(3) Permitting the killing of humpback whales on the 1st, 2nd, 3rd and 4th February only each year;

(4) Requiring the return of daily statistics of whales taken after the catch is deemed by the Bureau of International Whaling Statistics to have reached 14,000 blue whale units.
