EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This Note is not part of the Rules.)

These Rules amend the Young Persons (Certificates of Fitness) Rules 1948 by adding employments under certain schemes for the training of apprentices or other trainees to the employments which are to be treated as groups for the purposes of section 118(4) of the Factories Act 1961 (which provides that the appointed factory doctor may by means of one certificate of fitness authorise the employment of a young person in a number of factories in employments which are a group for the purposes of that provision).

The Rules also prescribe a new form of certificate of fitness for issue by the appointed factory doctor in certain cases in substitution for that prescribed by the 1948 Rules.
